Re: Recommendation of Ra-Lin Construction Company

The Floyd County School System considers it a privilege to recommend Ra-Lin Construction Company as a general contractor for any project. Ra-Lin has completed two new middle schools, one new elementary school and renovated one our elementary schools in the past four years. At present, they are constructing a new two story high school at a cost of twenty-five million dollars ($25,000,000); and eight new classrooms plus renovations at one our elementary schools at a cost $1.3 million. In each of these projects, they have served as a partner to the Floyd County Board of Education and approached every project as professionals.

[I feel strong consideration should be given to Ra-Lin Construction Company as a possible candidate for your projects. They are well versed in the Construction Manager at Risk delivery method of construction which is used consistently in the Floyd County School System. They are thorough and knowledgeable in all construction trades and will keep your representatives well informed of each aspect of the project(s) they are managing. Ra-Lin Company demands excellence and professionalism in all of its employees. We have never had a situation with the Ra-Lin Company that could not be worked out with a conversation and a hand shake.] They have been very supportive of our school system with projects that were not related to building schools. They believe in kids and support many activities that benefit boys and girls.

It has been a pleasure and an honor to work with this company. I hope we will continue a long record of service by Ra-Lin to the Floyd County School System.

If I can provide additional information as you consider Ra-Lin for your project(s), please give me a call at (706) 234-1031.
